THURSDAY, MARCH 15, 1866.

Legislature.

This body has got fairly at work, and are disposing of a large amount of business. The members of both Houses manifest an earnestness in their duties, and evince a desire to pass such laws as the necessities of the Territory demand. We have rarely seen a legislative body manifest a greater disposition to legislate industriously for the interests of their constituents.

Several very important bills have been introduced in both branches, and some have passed. The repeal of the extra compensation voted to the members of the Legislature and other officers, has been very promptly repealed, and, we believe, concurred in by both parties in the Legislature.

The bill in regard to County Treasurers, and defining their duties, has [illegible] measure, and calculated to enhance the value of county warrants, very acceptable in all its provisions, and will result in lessening the taxes in all the counties of the Territory. We hope to be able to furnish it to our readers next week.

Interesting discussions have been had, both in the Council and House. The various subjects treated of by the Governor, in his able message, have been considered in committee of the whole, and gentlemen who participating have exhibited very considerable ability, and reflected credit on themselves and constituents.

We listened, on Tuesday evening, to a part of the speeches made by Speaker Mayhew, of Deer Lodge, and Mr. Parrott, of Edgerton, on the bill defining the duties of County Treasurers, which was being considered in committee of the whole. The comments of the Speaker on the Auditor's report arrested attention both of the House and of the persons in the galleries. Whilst we have no doubt the Auditor has the items of the various sums total exhibited in his report, it is rather unfortunate that he did not give a more detailed report of how the $16,000 for salaries to officers, the $6,000 for printing, and $4,000 for office rents, were expended. We agree with the Speaker, that such sums look large, without explanation, and his remarks in regard to all these items of expense were much to the point. The Speaker remarked that in reference to the large sum paid for printing, that he could not see how it had gone, as none of the laws had been printed; and as to the item for office rent, he had not yet been able to find where the Treasurer's office was, and that the Auditor's office, he believed, was in a lawyer's office in this city. The remarks of the Speaker will attract public attention, and cause a reform in such expenses.

The comments of Speaker Mayhew are not the only comments we have heard on the reports of both the Treasurer and Auditor. We hope the Legislature will call for the items which have swelled these sums reported. We admit that, in some cases, very little discretion is left to either the Treasurer or Auditor, in regard to some of the expenditures of the Territory, and it is due to both of these officers, as well as to the public, that a committee be appointed to examine and report how these large expenditures have been made, and for what purpose.

We feel that the present Legislature will inaugurate many useful reforms, and discontinue abuses, by [illegible] volved in a heavy debt. This Legislature is thoroughly Democratic, and we feel satisfied that they will acquit themselves in such a manner as to receive the full and cordial endorsement of their work.

The Council is composed of gentlemen of experience, and a good degree of legal ability, and are industriously at work in framing measures suited to the condition of the Territory, and amending imperfect laws that have not worked well. The entire Council seem to be employed day and night.

Judge Spratt is at the head of the judiciary committee, and this is a sufficient guarantee that all bills coming from his committee will be well matured.

Major McCormick, Councilman from Deer Lodge, is Chairman of the important committee of Ways and Means, and has already shown that the President, in assigning the position, made a very proper selection. He is an attentive and efficient Senator, and will make his mark in the legislation of the Territory.

Major Bagg is at the head of a majority of the committees, and has a Herculean task on his hands, but his aptness and extensive experience will enable him to wade through the immense amount of business successfully, and to the interests of the people. The other members of the Council are, also, lending their aid very cheerfully and assiduously to their duties.

We anticipate much good to result from the laws passed by the present Legislature, and the result will be the infusion of activity and renewed vigor in all parts of Montana.

HANGING OF DANIELS.

Our readers will find the proceedings of an indignation meeting of the citizens of Helena, held on the 6th inst., condemning the hanging of Daniels at that place. We are informed, from a private source, it was one of the largest meetings ever held in Montana, and that the gentlemen who took a prominent part in it, were the best citizens of Helena, though as published in the Radiator, it left us in the dark as to who attended the meeting, or whether it was a large or small one. It perhaps suited that paper to give this meagre account as from its notice of the affair, it is not the exponent of the views of the meeting, nor does it appear to share its indignation for the perpetration of such an inhuman deed. The Hel[ena meeting denounced the man-] ner it was done, as a "most unchristian and murderous deed," both "foul and barbarous." This is the right way to speak of the act, and its villanous authors; and all who contributed to bring about this outrage, are just as responsible as those who participated. There were instigators to this deed, and the people of Montana will keep their eyes on such men. Public justice is certain, and will overtake those engaged in hurrying on this outrage upon the laws. Helena and Virginia city, know full well the responsible parties for this murder. So far as Daniels was concerned, we, perhaps, would never have signed a petition for his pardon; but with such a petition before the Governor, signed as it was by some of the best men in Helena, and who, no doubt, were at the trial, no one can censure him for exercising the pardoning power, which, in this case, was clearly vested in him, and we have no elevated opinion of the legal acquirements of any Judge who would deny that the Governor could pardon in such cases; and, we regret to add, that one of our District Judges denied this, turned bailiff and bid defiance to the authority of the Governor.

We have no interest or prejudices in this case. When Daniels was sent here, and we read Judge Munson's charge to the jury, in which he recited some of the evidence, we believe he was very properly convicted, and that the Judge had done his duty according to law, and then Daniels was free from any further action of the court that convicted him. The duties of both Judge and Jury terminated on the conclusion of the trial and sentence. He was then in the custody of other officers, and could only avoid the full term of his sentence by Executive clemency. This was given upon a proper petition from a respectable and reliable source and Governor Meagher granted the request, and set the man free. But the Judge who sentenced him, started to Virginia city, in hot haste, and highly excited, and undertook to dictate to the Governor what was his duty—failing to effect anything in that quarter, he hastens back, writ in hand, for the re-arrest of the man, whom he tried and sentenced, and when he reached Helena, the unfortunate victim is hanging to the limb of a tree in Dry gulch, near that [illegible] ginia he stated, as we are credibly informed, that if Daniels went back to Helena, he would be hung, and in this the Judge has proved a prophet, and the news when received here, appeared to be very gratifying to many of the Judge's friends. The last Post, seeing the direction public opinion was taking in regard to the unwarranted and unprecedented course of Judge Munson in this affair, says that he was absent from Helena when Daniels was hung, and makes a defence for the Judge. No one believes for a moment, that Judge Munson could be engaged in an affair of this kind, but the excitement he manifested both here and at Helena, contributed to bring about this unfortunate affair, and we hope proper steps will be taken to remove a Judge who has so forgotten the dignity of his position, and supply his place with some one else. Judge Munson can never regain the high confidence of the people, that he possessed in so eminent a degree before this late affair, which resulted in the "cowardly, foul, brutal, barbarous murder" of James B. Daniels, to use the language in the resolutions of the Helena meeting.

Hanging of Daniels.

Resolutions passed at a meeting of the citizens of Helena, held at [illegible] March 5th, 1866.

Whereas, James B. Daniels, who was recently tried by a jury of his own countrymen and found guilty of manslaughter—sentenced to three years, and

Whereas, The Governor of the Territory upon a petition presented by a large number of the citizens of this vacinity, praying the Governor for a reprieve of the sentence of Daniels, and

Whereas, The Governor may have gone further than his prerogative warranted in releasing Daniels, before the decision of the President had been made known, we believe be acted with the best of intentions, and erred, (if erred at all) on the side of mercy.

Therefore be it resolved, That those who participated in the execution of Daniels, perpetrated an outrage upon this community, violated the law, and if not responsible to the civil law, are to their conscience and their God, for the foul and barbarous deed, and justly deserve the condemnation of all good citizens.

Resolved, That the perpetrators of this most unchristian and murderous deed, are in the opinion of this community, the greatest and most dangerous enemies of the people and to the future prosperity and dignity and honor of this Territory, and that this meeting demand that they at once disband and forever give up whatever organization, they have usurped and disgraced, and that this people will not tolerate a repetition of such cowardly and fiendish assassination.

Resolved, That we do most earnestly and indignantly denounce said party or organization or clique, as lawless, reckless violators of the peace and dignity of society, and their conduct in relation to the late Daniels, as a cowardly, foul, brutal, barbarous murder, and that we do, and are proud to be able to vindicate the Vigilance Committee, as a whole, from this most malicious murder and flagrant outrage upon society.

Resolved, That this community is determined to oppose, battle against, and repress disorder and lawlessness in whatever quarter it may arise, and that this meeting call upon and demand of the authority to see that the laws are enforced, for the benefit of every citizen in this community, regardless of circumstance, place or condition.

Resolved, That we heartily endorse the action of the original Vigilantees, of Montana Territory, and feel to emulate and honor those who in the dark hour of the reign of anarchy and the time when honest men of the Territory were in danger of their lives from highwaymen who then infested this country, had the boldness to face the danger and bring the robbers and murderers to justice at the peril of their lives and fortunes, and that we are happy to announce to the world that we pronounce the murder of Daniels as a flagrant outrage and a midnight assassination, and denounce in bitter terms those, who, by that foul deed, have sought to darken the bright page of the history of this Territory, that those noble men at the peril of their lives labored to produce.

Resolved, That we heartily indorse the course of President Johnson in the faithful discharge of his duties as President of the United States, and admire his bold and independent course, in opposition to radical dictation, yet, in keeping with the spirit and meaning of the constitution of our country, and that we will stand by the executive of this Territory in seeing that the laws of the Territory are faithfully executed, and that we will aid and assist the judiciary in the discharge of their proper functions.

NEWS.—We have had but one mail this week from Salt Lake, and therefore have very little intelligence from the States. In the daily Telegraph, there is no article in regard to the trade of Montana, &c., from which we will give extracts in our next. The telegraphic news columns of the Telegraph contains an order detailing a plan of Gen. Pope's for the safety of trains, &c., crossing the plains, similar to one suggested last season, which was not carried out on account of its impracticability.

The Tennessee members are to be admitted very soon to seats in Congress.

The New York Express says: It is estimated at the Fenian headquarters to day, that nearly a million of men are ready to move for the liberation of Ireland, upon orders to march. Several thousand are said to have joined since Thursday. The same paper has a report, on good authority, that negotiations are now in progress in Washington, to obtain from the United States government recognition of that power. Sir Fredrick Bruce has, it is stated, protested against any such application being received. The Central Council have issued orders to the Brotherhood to act in strict accordance with the United States neutrality laws. A meeting at Jones' Woods to-morow is expected to be very large. Eight stands for speakers are to be erected on the grounds. Gen. Nagle has resigned as Centre, on account of professional duties.

DEAR SIR:—The circular issued by the Department, under date of April 6th, 1865, taxing rectified liquors, such as gin, etc., 6 per cent ad-valorem was revoked by the Commissioner a short time after, consequently we have made no assessment on this class of liquors.

We do not require a re-inspection of rectified liquors when the high-wines have previously paid a tax.

Alcohol distillers have their alcohol re-inspected only when buying in bond, high-wines for re-distillation. If the tax is paid on high wines before redistillation, no re-inspection is required.

Yours truly,

APOLOGY.—It was impossible for us to comply with the promise made to publish an extra on Saturday, on account of the great press of Legislative work. We are aware, that what is said in a newspaper, is implicitly relied on by the public, and hence an apology is due. We hope during the session of the Legislature to give our readers, some of the speeches made by members, so that their constituents may be posted as to their views on public matters.

JUDICIARY.—Both the gentlemen who have been appointed chairmen of the Judiciary committies of the respective houses are lawyers of acknowledged ability, and the country is fortunate in having their services at this time in the Legislature. Mr. Parrott, chairman of Judiciary in the House, gives close attention to all the measures referred to his committee, and possesses the confidence of the House both in the correctness of his conclusions and his sincere desires to report only useful laws.

We invite attention to the advertisement of I. G. Baker, Esq., commission and storage merchant, Fort Benton. He stands deservedly high with all who have done business with him, and we can recommend him as worthy of the favor of all who ship goods to Fort Benton. He has the most extensive ware-houses in Montana Territory, his place of business having been formerly a Fort, gives perfect security to the goods stored with him.

A BEAUTIFUL WORK OF ART.—We had the pleasure, yestreday of looking on a piece of the handiwork of one of our Dubuque mechanics, which is truly worthy of notice. It is a crucifix, the cross composed of solid Montana gold of 3 ounces weight, set at an elevation of six inches from a base of double steps formed of silver found in the same territory. The figure represents the Savior on the cross is carved from the best ivory and is realyl a gem of its kind. We understand the gold and silver work of the elegant piece of mechanism was done by Mr. Henry Heitzleman, a jeweler of our city, at the request of Mr. Robert Conway, well and favorably known here as a merchant in former days, but who has since made a residence in the new territory of Montana, being designed as a gift to his wife. Both the design and execution of this chaste and elegant gift, reflects lasting credit on the giver and the artist.—Dubuque Herald.

NEVADA ITEMS.

PRESENTATION.—On St. Patrick's day the Fenian brotherhood of Nevada will present an exquisite testimonial of their appreciation of the General, as a patriot, soldier, and orator. The testimonial consists of a heavy medal of native gold, with appropriate emblems, in beautiful raised work. The presentation address will be delivered by James McElroy of the House of Represetatives. It will take place at the theatre in Virginia City at half past two P. M., just previous to the Generals Oration for the benefit of the Catholic Church. It is thought, that Mr. McElroy's speech will be scarcely inferior to the General's oration.

GRAND BALL.—The Fenian ball at the Adelphi Hall Nevada promises to be equal, if not excel anything of the kind ever got up in the Territory. The host of good fellows, whose names embelish their card gives assurance that the Bon ton of Montana will be present.

March 7, 1866-2w

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S ADDRESS

To the Montana Delegation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1866.

GENTLEMEN:—

Your morning's large number of the citizens of Montana territory, now in Washington city, called upon the President. B. M. Pumey, U. S. Marshal for the Territory; Chief Justice Hosmer, Governor Edgerton and twenty-five or thirty others were among the number. Mr. Pumey addressed the President on behalf of the delegation. He said:

MR. PRESIDENT—It becomes my duty, as a member of the delegation, to assure you that the principles announced in your annual message to Congress, and your policy in relation to the present condition of affairs in our own mountain land—Montana, are among the able or unanswering words when we assure you that we take the greatest pleasure in saying that we recognize in you, as the Chief Magistrate of this great nation, a person who possesses that mind, that profound knowledge, that firm and patriotic devotion to the true interests and welfare of the whole country which are so necessary to carry it safely over the ocean of political speculation and debate. We, as a people, unanimously endorse your noble sentiments, and expressions as made by the citizens of the Territory of Montana, and should insert their warmest approval, if we did not believe that we firmly believe if you could with a medical and generous support on every hand, the nation will soon forget from its present political crisis, a stranger and better nation, prepared to take a higher rank, and as a nobler spirit on the platform of liberty and equality for you have allied to the very genius of the earth. Montana has attained a population of 30,000 souls, and already numbers fifty thousand civilians. Nearly the entire nation end of business are dotted all over her fertile valleys, and her numerous thoroughfares are constantly resounding with the cries of immigrants. The gold and silver which she has already had long since been hidden and garnered up in her hills and mountains, have been revealed to the discovered as a new one added to the noble sisterhood of States which help to supply her treasury. And while she possesses as well as a great mineral wealth, all those agricultural resources which are desired to make her surely populous, and powerful, as the wealthiest and most influential member of the confederacy of republics. Her people are proud of the republican principles of your political sentiments, and will be among the very last to forsake you, and will be among the first to rally around you should any party or faction ever be proclaimed in opposition to you in the world, and which we understand to be the form worst of all good governments.

The President replied as follows:

GENTLEMEN—It is an ordinary pleasure for me to meet you here on this occasion to receive the assurances you have announced. To receive an inaugural is regarded as a matter of intelligent gentlemen from that remote region of country from which you come is highly gratifying to me. In response, (addressing Mr. Pumey), to the eloquent manner in which you have expressed the sentiments and feelings of those whom you represent on this occasion, I might content myself with simply reiterating briefly and hurriedly the sentiments which I have expressed on other occasions, but you have made some allusion to the policy of the administration that entrusted on I cannot be indifferent. You have alluded to the great principles of our government having been embodied in a paper sent to the Congress of the United States. The discussion by those principles was not the result of inquiry, it was not the result of a thorough and calm consideration of those principles, but it was the foundation of all free institutions. Those were an understood thing, and have laid them down as their guide, and they have announced the doctrine enunciated in that message. It was necessary to inquire whether they continued from this time on that doctrine was necessary to withdraw from what standpoint they look at it, and what they would recommend, partially and imperceptibly it may be, but surely and certainly, rather in all great and high principles may take place in regard to them; while those who disclaim them, who are willing new to endure them and see them to naught, will be found disintegrating and spreading a divergent direction for this reason. There may be many new causes together without any previous cause or correspondence, but imperceptibly, because they agree on these great principles. I think, you would assist with about the same success in attempting to carry on the government upon the great principles that you have announced, as you would if you should take hold of a piece of machinery that had been constructed and trained to run in one direction, and attempt by reverse action to run it in an opposite direction. I say again that I thank no one can awaken the docator of that message. It is very easy for persons to misapprehend it, and to make assertions that is the fair or other to be taken from it, but I think I may be permitted to say in my own behalf, on occasion that, taking all my associations during long last six years, with the public life and continuing down to the present time, that my principles are forth in that paper have been my unassailed principles. After having gone so far, it is too late for me to change and adopt a different course. They will be my guide from this moment, and, with the blessing of God, and them may know where I shall be found. Here let me say to you, that the declaration of the policy so far as it is possible for an individual to carry out, that my policy shall be well sigh done—in deed of my political power. I will say further, that if I were disposed to refer to myself, I might trace my career back to the log cabin; then an alderman and then a mayor; then delegate; then both branches of the State Legislature; then in the National Congress; then to the Senate of the United States; then Governor; then charged with a slight participation in military affairs; then Vice President; and then in the position I occupy before you. I could say, in view of all this, that I am instrumental in restoring to their proper relations to the Union three more whose relations to the national government have for a time been interrupted by one of the most gigantic revolutions that ever occurred in the world, or that we can proclaim ourselves that on my own account I have shed feel that the sanctions of my conscience is filled with gratified flowing. And at that point, if disposed to say what we are accustomed of honor and position, I shall be prepared to say that I do not know and I know how and thank them to say who they are. I have completed my mission—it will have been fulfilled. I have done all that I can consider as my duty and in response to the encouragement you have given me, I feel that I am on a condition not to be arrogant or boastful, or assuming or supercilious. I feel that I can approach you with ease, or feeling or being willing, I should go right and to the people of the country and to the government upon the principles that I have laid down in the past, and that I will say now. I have no reason to alter their considerations for the future—who are entitled to the confidence of the people, and another for another—that I have been faithful to God's trust. I have this encouragement for the purpose of encouraging me in the future, and I trust that I shall be able to perform my relations with reference to my future position for the Government of the United States. I have reached the objects of my ambition, and I have had that to encourage me in the discharge of my duty, and that I will endeavor to do. Let me say, in response to the work of yesterday, and while we are considering the subject of reconstruction, that I am willing to do anything in the great machinery desired by our fellow citizens. I am willing to do anything that can be given into in the Congress of the United States, and as well as in the restoration of all the States to their relations to the Union and a cordial helper. Gentlemen, I call upon you to assist me in carrying out the principles of my administration, and to complement you have paid me on this occasion, and for the encouragement you have given me in the discharge of my duties. I shall be pleased to receive you at any time, and will be glad to see you. I am willing to answer any question the community that you represent.

The gentlemen present were then introduced to the President, General Grant, Secretary Seward, Secretary McCulloch, Secretary Stanton, and the foreign ambassadors of specimens of gold-bearing quartz from Montana were presented to the President, which were received with interest, and the delegation then withdrew.

HOUSE AND BARN BURNED.—We learn from a gentlemen who resides in Ashley county that the house and barn burned to the ground on Sunday last. The fire was set to destroy the work of an incendiary, as the house was vacant, having been left in charge of a man about a week before it was burned. The building was insured for $1,000—St. Landing.

GROWTH OF THE CATHOLICS.—The Catholic World says that within the last fifty years as much has been added to prosperous in the United States as during the previous two hundred.

About two thousand churches and chapels have been erected, and the work of one thousand eight hundred clergymen—one hundred and sixty schools established for the training of 18,000 boys and 12,000 girls. Whereas, in there existed in 1837 sixty-six boys' schools, with 2,000 students, and seventy-two academies, with 3,000 students; seventy-six hospitals, with twenty-three asylums, besides many other charitable institutions, all established and supported by the private charity of Catholics.

Notice.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

ALL PERSONS KNOWING THEMSELVES indebted to the undersigned, by note or account, are hereby notified that the same must be settled without delay, or they will be left in the hands of an officer for collection, as I positively will not give further time.
